

BOEHRINGER INGELHEIM ANIMAL HEALTH BUSINESS UNIT

Fact Sheet

We have united the strengths of two leading players in animal health – Boehringer Ingelheim and Merial – into ONE business unit within Boehringer Ingelheim. Our complementary portfolios make our two businesses a perfect fit. Together we can serve our customers and partners better by offering a broader range of animal health solutions and resources across companion and livestock animals, greater expertise, and more innovation.

Boehringer Ingelheim’s Animal Health business unit is now the second largest animal health player in the world. We are committed to using that scale and our combined resources to lead the industry in improving animal health. We are passionate about animal health and recognize the critical importance of serving animal health needs globally, with a special focus on prevention. We know that when animals are healthy, humans are healthier, too. As a family-owned business, we can take a long-term perspective to help achieve this. For more information click here.
